Did you know that...

- A large number of Carver alumni attended this year's Carver Celebration? We look forward to an even larger turnout for Celebration 2010.
- Samantha Harvey, '04, is a member of the Radio City Music Hall Rockettes and has performed in Baltimore and helped raise money for the Dance for the Cure?
- Mark Karafin, '03, has been directing plays and original readings in New York and at the North Carolina School of the Arts in addition to stage managing plays in New York?
- Kim Shemer, '98, has her Doctorate in Physical Therapy and is the on-site physical therapist for many Broadway shows and modern dance companies? She is the clinic director of Performing Arts Physical Therapy in New York City, specializing in dance medicine.
- Lauren (Lola) Thompson, '02, is pursuing her PhD in Mathematics at Dartmouth?
- Alysia Lee, '99, is a member and the founder of Opus Nine, a chamber ensemble group that will have its debut in Baltimore on May 16th? She is on the faculty of Bloomingdale School of Music and will present her one-woman show, Love Stinks, on June 6th at The Duplex, NYC.
- Andy Cook, '00, was the subject of a City Paper cover story for his in-depth photojournalism work on those hit hard by the economic downturn?
- Amy Stran, '97, is the newest Program Host on the QVC shopping channel? Previously to this, she held parts on soap operas All My Children and One Life to Live.
- Daniel Madoff, '02, is a member of the prestigious Merce Cunningham Dance Company in NYC and performed in Cunningham's latest world premiere, Nearly Ninety? (NY Times, 18 Apr 09)
- Larry Mercer, '99, is the voiceover ring announcer at the beginning of the movie, The Wrestler?
